

Full System Audit — Sprint Command Review (Feb 2026)

Activation Roster: Darius Cole (D), Mira Voss (M), Aiden Shah (A), Noa Chen (N), RayRay Navarro (R) Supervisor: Derek Simmons

Darius Cole — Ops Director

Lens: "Is this team structured to win?"

✔ Strengths

- Centralized Orchestration: The Master Hub unification eliminates the "multi-repo stutter." Having a single engine for both Business and Career lanes is a strategic win.
- Forensic Accountability: The implementation of the `forensic-ledger.md` establishes a proper audit trail for clinical anomalies.

⚠ Friction Points

- Role Disambiguation: The "Surgical Scripting Lab" is a great addition, but we need to be clear if this is for Justice's personal skill-building or a protocol for external collaborators like JB.

🔧 Recommendations

- NOW: Formally link the Clinical OS protocol to the Black Nexus onboarding track to ensure shared standard.

Mira Voss — System Coherence Officer

Lens: "Does every part of this system know what the other parts are doing?"

✔ Strengths

- Protocol Promotion: Moving the DDIA mapping to the Playbook core (`clinical-architecture.md`) correctly elevates technical strategy to an operational standard.
- Deep Link Navigation: Hash-based routing (`#mode:section`) ensures that external docs (like this review) point directly to actionable areas.

⚠ Friction Points

- Gist Duality: We are still syncing two separate Gists. While good for isolation, we need a "Global Sync" check to ensure no lane drift.

🔧 Recommendations

- NEXT: Implement a "System Health" check in the `/morning` routine that validates Gist sync timestamps for both lanes simultaneously.

Aiden Shah — Revenue Strategist

Lens: "Is money flowing in the right direction?"

✔ Strengths

- Financial Visibility: The "Clinical Finance" card in the Business lane brings "Burn vs. Income" to the center of the engine.
- Anchoring Psychology: The WNQ $3k goal is front-and-center, keeping the team focused on the Feb 27 milestone.

⚠️ Friction Points

- Revenue Lab Gaps: The "Surgical Scripting" lab currently lacks a "Monetization" track. How do these coding skills turn into dollars?

🔧 Recommendations

- LATER: Add a "Value-Based Scripting" module that teaches how to build automation that clients (like WNQ) would pay a premium for.

🎨 Noa Chen — Creative & Brand Director

Lens: "Does this look, feel, and communicate like a premium service?"

✅ Strengths

- Context Recognition: The Gold (Business) vs. Cyan (Career) theme shifts provide instant high-contrast context recognition.
- Pulse UX: The section highlight animation for deep links adds a clinical, high-tech "ping" that reinforces the CDA brand.

⚠️ Friction Points

- Inline Style Debt: The Hub code is accumulating inline styles (`style="..."`). This makes the "engine" harder to modify for future skinning.

🔧 Recommendations

- NEXT: Extract Hub UI styles into a dedicated `hub-core.css` file to maintain a cleaner "Playbook-First" code structure.

🛡️ RayRay Navarro — QA & Compactor

Lens: "Can you find what you need in under 10 seconds?"

✅ Strengths

- Surgical Cleanup: The `/organize-files` run successfully purged the "junk drawer" files (legacy fragments) into the `.agent` archive.
- Link Integrity: The promotion of the Strategy doc was followed by a surgical update of the Hub's header links. 10/10 execution.

⚠️ Friction Points

- Mobile Density: The new Finance and Scripting cards increase the vertical scroll. We may need "Collapse All" functionality for mobile views.

🔧 Recommendations

- NOW: Run a test on an actual iPhone to ensure the "Deep Link" highlight doesn't get obscured by sticky headers.

Cross-Panel Synthesis (Darius Brief)

The system has moved from "Segmented Hubs" to a "Unified Engineering Engine." We have high scores on Visibility (Aiden) and Vibe (Noa). Integrity (RayRay) is strong after the hygiene run. The #1 priority is Consolidation of Workflow Debt—ensuring that all our new "Labs" and "Ledgers" are integrated into our daily rituals (/morning , /consolidate).
